The Department for Work and Pensions has launched websites designed to help both employers, and those looking for employment, the opportunity to find valuable resources to help start a new journey.

With 2.3m new claims to Universal Credit and other benefits during the Covid-19 emergency, and many more people furloughed, jobhelp content offers essential advice about which sectors are recruiting now, transferable skills and how to secure a new role.

Meanwhile, employerhelp focuses on recruiting, and encourages use of the Government Matching Service 'Find a Job', a free service with more than 1.8m registered users.
